

STARS & STRIPES

MONDAY

Craft:

Red, White & Blue Stained Glass (By Kinder Craze)

(I love this craft because you can allow your child to do more or less based on their age and older kids can get really creative with their patriotic designs. This is fun July 4th décor for the family to enjoy all week)

Printables:

4th of July Doodle Coloring Page

July 4th Crossword

Family Activity:

Patriotic Paper Chain, Simply cut strips of red, white and blue paper. On each paper write one freedom you are thankful for. Tape or glue the ends to make a loop, insert a second strip to make a loop, tape or glue that loop and keep going to make it as long as you want and hang up!

TUESDAY

Fun with Food:

Build a Graham Cracker White House
(By Joy in the Works)

(This recipe is so fun! Your little ones may need extra help with this one but big kids should be able to follow along and build this on their own. You can get totally creative with candy and your patriotic design).

Other fun foods:

*Breakfast: Make an edible flag with blueberries and raspberries on cream cheese toast

*Snack: Use a star cookie cutter to cut out watermelon

*Lunch: Use a star cookie cutter to cut a grilled cheese, serve with strawberries and/or tomatoes and mozzarella balls on a skewer

Printables:

WEDNESDAY

Sensory Play:

The Mommy Camp Stars & Stripes Playdough Kit

These playdough sensory kits will open your little one's imagination and keep them busy and screen-free for hours. The Stars & Stripes Playdough Kit has everything your little one needs to get creative while celebrating America's birthday!

4th of July Word Scramble

Independent Activities:

Design a Family Flag. Leave out paper in different colors, markers, scissors and glue. Your child can get inspiration from the symbols of the American flag here.

THURSDAY

STEAM Activity:

Red, White & Blue Science Project

(I love this activity because you can make this using items you already have in your kitchen cabinets. Your child can do this science activity with only a little guidance and they will want to do it again and again)

Printables:

4th of July Color by Number

(By Itsy Bitsy Fun)

United States Maze

Independent Activities:

Dear America, write a birthday letter or make a birthday card to America!

FRIDAY

Move Your Body Activity:

DIY Marshmallow Shooters

(By Hunny I'm Home)

(This activity is really basic to make but your kids will love it. After building each of their own marshmallow shooters you can head outside to shoot them at targets (or each other).

Printables:

4th of July Coloring Page

I Spy 4th of July

Independent Activities:

Leave out red, white and blue beads and strings to make July 4th bracelets and necklaces for the family.

What to read: Grab any book you already own about the U.S.A or July 4th! For a list of great books we recommend check out: <https://amzn.to/3y7zDwB>
